As our summer OFFICIALLY kicks off, and Covid-19 restrictions continue to lift, WG has some safety tips we want to share with you! Whether you are going on vacation, or still sheltered - in place, it is important to stay safe this summer while you try and have some fun.

The "100 Deadliest Days of Summer"

Every year WG reminds both parents and teens how dangerous driving distracted can be.

The "100 Deadliest Days of Summer" are now upon us, a time period of historical increase in traffic fatalities, especially teenagers.

Many of our teens summer jobs have been cancelled, and social activities postponed. As it continues to warm up, and our teenagers are already itching to get out of the house, it is very important that parents keep them safe.

Keep your teens accountable, teach them safe driving, and remember - they learn the most about driving from watching their parents.

Covid-19 Update

As state restrictions continue to ease, it is more important than ever to take extra precautions to stay safe.

The last thing we want to create is another flare up when everyone starts mingling together again. Summer time or not, Covid-19 is still here.

The Center for Disease Control (CDC) released a study that 1/3 of all infections were spread from people who didn't even know they were sick. If you are going out in public, keep wearing your mask, keep washing your hands, do everything you have been doing to stay healthy.

Our offices remain open to the public, but ask that you please call ahead and schedule appointments if you need to physically meet with an attorney.

Employee Spotlight: Thatcher Smith

If you would like to watch Thatcher's YouTube Video about how Coronavirus has affected him, click below.

Every month WG highlights one of our amazing employees.

Thatcher is one of our interns who has been with us since 2016. Currently enrolled at LMU Duncan School of Law, he aspires to be an Attorney at WG after he graduates.

He enjoys hanging out and playing games with his family, listening to music, and being with his fiancée.

After Covid-19 affected his life, and particularly his wedding plans, Thatcher wrote a moving song about it.

"Covid got me at Home"
