

May News

It has been a crazy month for everyone, but the month of May is looking promising! Pandemic, Tornado, Kids out of school, I think we are all ready to get back to our normal routine. Both the states of Georgia and Tennessee have begun to allow many businesses to reopen their doors under some specific guidelines. This will allow people to leave their homes, socialize at a distance, and maybe even get some extra-curricular activities back!

Tornado Clean Up

After Easter's devastating tornado that bulldozed through East Brainerd all the way to Collegedale, our thoughts and prayers are with all of those affected.

As quickly as the storm came, volunteers were equally responsive to help immediately.

As a small token of our gratitude for all of those who were good neighbors, we want to say thank you. Post a picture on our Facebook of you doing a neighborly act to help someone with the clean-up, and you could WIN a WG Weather Radio!

COVID-19 Update

After a month of "shelter in place" Gov. Lee and Mayor Berke have given the green light for some businesses to reopen their doors.

Many restaurants are allowed to offer dine-in service at no more than 50% occupancy, while still practicing CDC guidelines for social distancing.

Golf courses, Public open spaces such as parks, and shopping malls are once again open to the public.

Government guide lines remain the same while in public: practice social distancing (6 feet), proper hand washing/sanitizing, and groups more than ten people should not gather.

Hamilton Place Mall has opened their doors, but have advised their shoppers that security has the right to break up groups of people gathering in one place.

We are well on our way to getting back to our normal lifestyle, but it is going to take time.

The best thing you can do right now is to limit your exposure as much as possible.

If you HAVE to go shopping, it is advised that you wear a mask and sanitize your hands frequently.

We hope that everyone stays safe during these tough times.

May the Fourth Be With You

In light of everyone being bored (or crazy) at home, WG has been trying to involve our Facebook followers in weekly giveaways!

In the spirit of Star Wars Day, May 4th, we will be giving away a $100 gift card of your choice!

During the first week of May, submit a picture of your best Star Wars costume to our Facebook and be entered to WIN!

Employee Highlight: Kim McDaniel

"BIG Kim" has been working at Warren and Griffin since April 1998.

Before Kim came to work at WG, she worked for a construction company where she "engineered plasma torch templates."

Kim was originally hired as a paralegal at WG, and as our firm grew, so did her leadership as she became our office manager.

Mrs. McDaniel said her favorite thing about her job is working with her coworkers. "We're like a family, through thick and then we stick together."

Kim's favorite Disney character is Stich because, "he's mischievous, but you still wanna cuddle him."
